ALLEN-MOONEY WEDDING SOCIAL EVENT; ON CALIFORNIA TRIP

ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

Heads in Sand

A number of political dunces in Congress last Friday voted a bill out of committee stripping federal authorities of all control over rents, leaving to "local boards" authority to permit increases in rent. The GOP wants to return to the White House by way of the November election. But playing hypocrite with the welfare of millions of helpless people in putting control in the hands of group easily amenable to pressure could easily prove a certain way of returning Mr. Truman to office. GOP leaders should take their heads out of the sand.

Is War in Offing?

Millions would like to know the answer. But the answer can come only from the Kremlin—from none other than Joe Stalin. And he's not talking, at least not to the world. Except, that is, by actions. Communism throughout the world is Moscow's plan, and by force. Students of history will recall Mahomet's policy—and the results. And there were others. There will be others of the same stripe in the future. But the present is important to us. And whether we have early war depends upon Moscow. We'd better be ready—ready to hit fast, hit hard, hit decisively.

Not A Good Recommendation

Senator Taft of Ohio put up a sorry performance in criticizing the Truman plan for aid to Europe. He has condemned it generally. Then, two weeks ago, he announced he would fight for a reduction, but if his efforts failed, he would vote for the full amount. Either his opposition was political and therefore reprehensible, or his final support was hypocritical. Actually, he knew the program was necessary. That's why he voted for the measure. Too bad he did not use his great genius to reform the method of handling the program. That was and still is necessary.

Buzz Saw

Many consider Mr. Truman a more capable political strategist than a political moralist. Republicans who thought he would be an easy push-over find their efforts inept against the President's acute machine training. Again, he knows how to manipulate when he is right to make his political opponents look amateurish. And that's unfortunate for the country. Mr. Truman to the GOP is a buzz saw. They'd better quit letting him trim their fingers.

John Lewis Hollers

John L. Lewis is hollering about operators' refusal to negotiate a pension plan. More likely it will turn out to be anger because one John L. Lewis cannot dictate terms and make operators sign on the dotted line. Maybe Mr. Lewis is punishment for our sins—or for the sins of sinners, if we don't happen to have any of our own.

Salutary

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States holding against teaching religion in public schools is salutary. It is not true religion, whatever the brand, to want one kind to the exclusion of others. We should get used to that idea, and maybe Christianity would have a better chance amongst us. But religious fighting has existed since man became conscious of religion. We don't have enough of it to stop fighting about it.

Lighted tapers decorated the altar and windows. The altar was banked with palms, ferns, and baskets of mixed bouquets for the double-ring ceremony read by Rev. Ralph L. Miller. During the ceremony the Rev. Mr. Miller sang the "Lord's Prayer."

Organ music was played preceding the nuptial service by Mrs. Leonard Warning. Miss Donna Peters of Champaign, who was the soloist, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mrs. Davis Gougar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace styled with an illusion neckline, tight fitting bodice, full skirt and long tapered sleeves. Her fingertip illusion veil was held in place with a heart-shaped lace crown, and she carried a bouquet of white roses tied with white satin streamers. She wore a pearl necklace with matching earrings, a gift of the groom.

Miss Joyce Petnuch, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Janet Mooney, sister of the groom. Miss Petnuch and Miss Mooney both wore identical aqua nylon marquisette gowns styled like that of the bride's. They were matching marquisette mitts and flowered headpieces. Miss Petnuch's headpiece was of aqua and white and Miss Mooney's was in pink. Their arm bouquets were of pink carnations tied with large pink bows and streamers.

Joseph Gougar, cousin of the bride, was the best man, and the ushers were Fred Mooney, who also attended his brother during the ceremony; Harry Gougar, David Gougar, and Robert Oram.

The Misses Mable and Fern Mooney, sisters of the groom, were candlelighters. They wore pink marquisette gowns also fashioned like the bride's and wore wrist corsages.

Jane Oram, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl, and she was dressed in pink taffeta and wore a pink and aqua headpiece. She carried a small bouquet of carnations.

The ring bearer was James Hobbs, cousin of the groom, who carried a heart-shaped pillow bearing the two rings.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Allen chose an aqua crepe dress with crystal beads, a white hat and wore a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Mooney wore a navy blue crepe dress with black accessories and also wore a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held in the church dining room for more than 200 guests. The bride's table was covered with a white damask cloth and centered with a three tiered wedding cake, bearing a miniature bride and groom.

Miss Mary Miller poured, and Mrs. John Smiley and Miss Myrtle Edom of Aurora served the cake. Miss Susan Day of Joliet was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Robert Arens of Chicago served the punch.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif., the couple will reside on their farm, three miles south of New Lenox where Mr. Mooney is engaged in farming.

Mrs. Mooney was graduated from Joliet township high school and attended the University of Illinois. Mr. Mooney was graduated from Joliet township high school and Joliet Junior college.

Out-of-town guests were present from Cleveland, Ohio; Chicago; Manhattan; Joliet and Aurora.

The Kingdom of God

Lesson for March 21, 1948

JESUS went back to his boyhood home in Nazareth, and on the Sabbath he went into the synagogue, "as was his custom."

Dr. Newton

They gave him the Book of Isaiah, from which he read a passage in the 61st chapter, adding, "This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears," Luke 4:21.

Jesus had come to let people know about God—to reveal the Father's perfect love for all men. He loved the Bible, and was constantly reading it, which in his day was the Old Testament only. And he loved the Sabbath day, which we now call the Lord's day. Beginning with his resurrection, the first day of the week has been observed as the Lord's day. And Jesus loved the appointed places of worship, and was always found in some synagogue on the Sabbath. Don't you wish you might have been in Nazareth that day when he stood up to read the Scripture?

WHAT HE CAME TO DO

JESUS, I repeat, came to reveal God to men, which is but another way of saying that he came to teach men about the Kingdom of God. Here we shall need to read Mark 4:26-29, and Romans 14:17.

"The Kingdom of God is as if a man should cast seed into the ground," said Jesus; and Paul, in Romans 14:17, says, "The Kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit."

Jesus, then, came to establish a kingdom within the hearts of men. It means the rule of God in human hearts. What he wills, we gladly do. It manifests itself in the daily life of the individual, in the home, in the school, in the church—everywhere.

"THY KINGDOM COME"

SO VITAL is this truth for the Christian that Jesus, in the pattern prayer, teaches us to say, "Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as in heaven."

If we live in the atmosphere of this prayer, we shall embody daily the fruits of the coming Kingdom of God. If we really "seek first the Kingdom of God, and his righteousness," we lift the level of life wherever we stand and serve. This is precisely what Jesus did. "He went about doing good."

We help to answer the prayer, "Thy Kingdom come," when we do with all our might what our hands find to do—in the home, in the community, in the church.

KINGDOM OF GOD AMONG MEN
IT IS not enough to consider this truth in terms of some far-off dramatic event. It is a present force and factor in today's world.

One day the Pharisees asked Jesus when the Kingdom of God should come. He told them that it would not come with observation—that it is within the hearts of men.

What did he mean? I believe that he meant just this, that the Kingdom of God will and must manifest itself in the common affairs of everyday life. We may hinder its manifestation. We may retard its coming. On the other hand, we may make it manifest and hasten its spread to earth's remotest bounds.

How? By yielding ourselves to the rule and reign of God in every relationship of life. In race relations, in social service, in relief to the afflicted, in united effort for peace, in better housing, in better recreational facilities, in educational opportunities for all. The Kingdom of God is not an impractical theory, but a working principle, even as the heaven works in the loaf.

WHEN WILL IT COME?

THE Kingdom of God will come when redeemed hearts everywhere enthroned God in their whole attitude and purpose. Then, and not until then.

Will it come? This is a stubborn question. From our viewpoint, it may seem doubtful; but Jesus declares that it will come. "I have overcome the world," he declares.

The one question for you and for me, What part shall I have in the coming of the Kingdom of God upon the earth? We each decide by our willingness or unwillingness to follow him.

Observe good faith and justice toward all nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all.—George Washington's Farewell Address.

$10,000 CONTEST OPEN TO STATE'S GARDENERS

Illinois junior growers, whose members won five awards in the 1947 production and marketing contest of the National Junior Vegetable Growers association, will have another opportunity in 1948 to improve their stellar records.

In announcing the eighth annual contest, Prof. Grant B. Snyder of the University of Massachusetts, senior advisor to the association, points out that Illinois boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 21 are now eligible to compete for the $6,000 in agricultural scholarships offered by A & P Food stores each year.

"The annual contest, in which junior growers from 43 states participated last year, is designed to make the farmer more effective through improved production and marketing methods," Professor Snyder said. "It takes on added importance during 1948 because of the association's pledge to President Truman to support the nation's food conservation program."

Junior growers can enroll through their local 4-H club leaders or agents and through instructors in vocational agriculture or directly through Professor Snyder at Amherst, Mass.

In addition to the production and marketing contest, this year's NJVGA program will again include the junior growers' annual demonstration contest for which funds are provided by David Burpee of the W. Atlee Burpee Seed company. The Burpee awards consist of trips to the NJVGA convention held annually in December, for those who score highest in the State demonstration contests. Further cash awards are made at the convention the top six demonstration teams in the finals.

Winners in the 1947 contest from Illinois were Delores Nafziger of Zion, Donald Harnicke of New Holland, Birdie Douglas of Grand Chain, Audrey Lotz of Macomb, and Fred Harris also of Grand Chain.

Plan Fight to Rid Illinois of Flies

Illinois farmers and city residents will join hands this year in an all-out fight to rid the state of flies!

Plans have been announced for an Illinois fly-free program to be sponsored jointly by the University of Illinois college of agriculture, the Illinois Agricultural association, the Illinois Natural History survey, and the state department of public health.

H. B. Petty, extension entomologist, says a double-barreled attack will be launched by most of the counties in the state. Sanitation and DDT will be the chief weapons. The program in the counties will be directed by the county farm advisers, with city and farm groups cooperating.

In the month-by-month schedule for the program, emphasis will be placed on eliminating all fly-breeding material during the last two weeks in May. The spraying program, using the well-publicized chemical DDT, should follow the cleanup. Specific recommendations will be issued by the county farm adviser or committee.

Farm groups will be asked to help organize the program in the rural areas, while civic-minded organizations in the city will be asked to support a city-wide program in urban centers.

Specialists have pointed out that in this program no one can let down and relax, but that the full cooperation of each citizen will be needed to make the program effective. State authorities will provide local leaders with information and demonstrate the most efficient methods to use in eradicating flies.

The first card parties were probably held over 1,100 years ago, in Hindustan, according to the World Book Encyclopedia. The Italians were the first Europeans to use playing cards, and the four suits originated in France during the 16th century.

Why Mason Should Be Re-Elected

FIRST: The Ways and Means Committee has spent six months holding public hearings in connection with an over-all revision of the Federal Revenue Code. The Committee proposes to revise, to simplify, and to equalize the provisions of the federal tax structure. This is a monumental task. As a member of that committee Mason has taken an active part in those hearings. A substantial reduction in income taxes paid by the American taxpayer in the lower brackets and a reasonable reduction for all income tax payers can be brought about. This is one job Mason wants to finish.

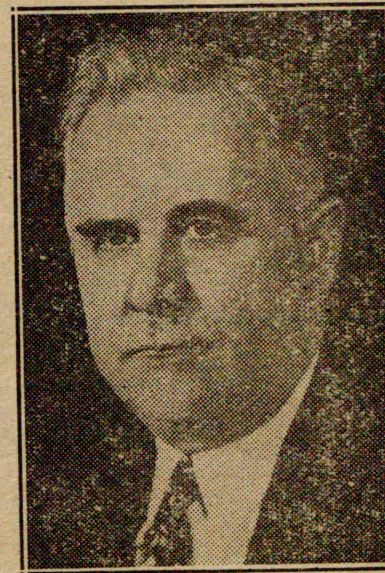

SECOND: As a member of the so-called Dies Committee for six years Mason helped lay the groundwork for the drive that is today getting results in Washington. Communists are being driven out of positions in Government and we are beginning to rid ourselves of the "Red Menace" in America. Mason should be returned to Washington to help complete the job he started as a member of the Dies Committee.

THIRD: Congressman Mason has taken a leading part in opposing the New Deal Program to socialize our form of government and to destroy our American Way of Life. He has been quite vocal on the Floor of the House in his opposition to the establishment of a centralized government bureaucracy in Washington. He should be permitted to continue that fight.

FOURTH: Mason has consistently opposed the policy of the present administration of giving away billions of dollars worth of scarce goods to other nations at the expense of American taxpayers. More than any other one thing this unjustified "give-away-policy" has brought about the present abnormally high prices which we call inflation. The Congressman hopes to continue that opposition.

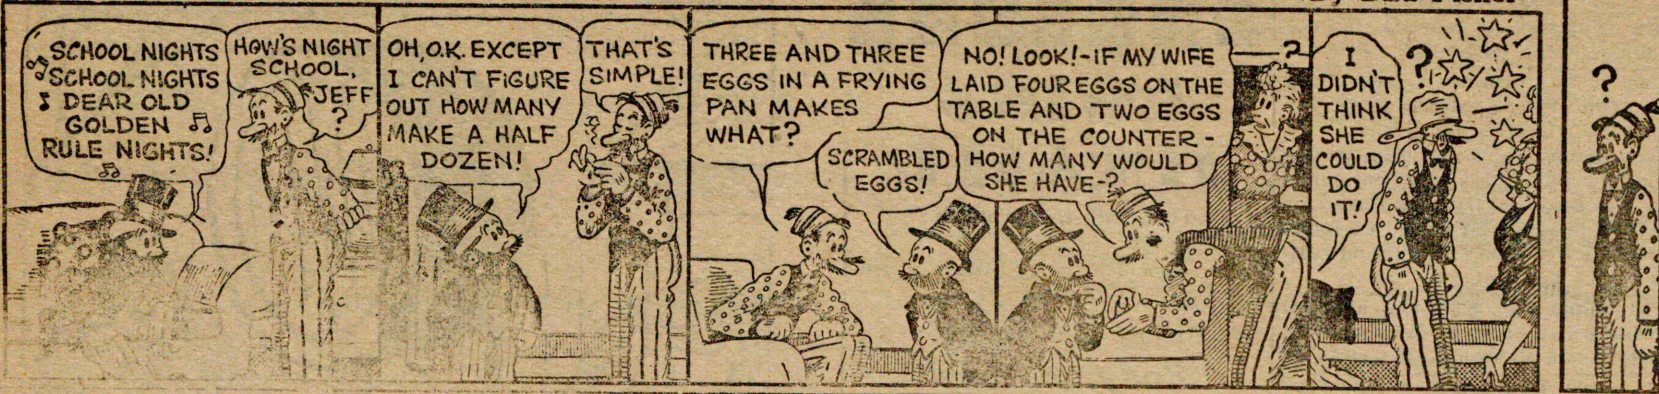

FIFTH: Reckless and wanton government spending must be stopped, and padded federal payrolls must be sharply reduced. If the cost of government is ever to be brought back to a proper peacetime basis and the American taxpayer relieved of his unnecessarily burdensome tax load, an economy-minded administration in Washington must be established. Congressman Mason will do his part to bring that about.

SIXTH: The House of Representatives today is composed of 244 Republicans and 187 Democrats. Of the 244 Republican Congressmen Mason stands 33 on the basis of Seniority. Because of his Seniority Mason holds an important place in his party's councils as well as membership on the powerful Ways and Means Committee. A new man would have to start at the bottom and work up from there. Mason should be re-elected.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest J. Miller, Sr., have left on a tour to California on Monday, March 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Dykstra and Mrs. Frank Munson of Chicago were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson a week ago Sunday.

Recording Discharge Papers Is Valuable

Many war veterans are discovering that having their discharge papers recorded can be of inestimable value in an emergency.

Discharge papers are recorded without charge by all county recorders. This service provides a permanent record of war service and gives veterans the opportunity of obtaining copies easily when circumstances demand swift service.

Copies of discharge papers furnished by county recorders are bona fide copies and can be used in applying for medical benefits from the government, GI loans and other occasions when proof of service is required.

Service officers of the Illinois Veterans Commission are prepared to assist veterans in having their discharge papers recorded.

In Cook county the office of the commission is located at 13104 So. Western Avenue in Blue Island. Veterans are urged to have their discharge papers recorded as soon as possible, thus avoiding delays at a later date in time of emergency.

The area of the state of Texas is 265,893 miles. Its fine climate and rich natural resources drew many people to it in early history. While it was a part of Mexico more Americans than Mexicans lived within its borders.

The state of Missouri has more than 8,000 miles of railroad, 1927 miles of navigable waters and boasts 14,664 miles of improved state highways.

The Canadian river is not in Canada. According to the World Book Encyclopedia, it's a branch of the Arkansas river, which rises in New Mexico and flows eastward through Texas and Oklahoma.

"Parasitism of horses by cattle grubs is not common and is probably accidental," states a bulletin issued by veterinary authorities, "but it is nevertheless a threat that should be recognized by horse owners."

U. of I. Reports On Oats Increase

Farmers who grow Clinton oats on improved soils should get higher yields and more protein per bushel. At least that's the result of a test conducted by the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

H. J. Snider, university agronomist, has a report on a comparison on an experiment field in Putnam county. Clinton oats on land treated with manure, limestone, and rock phosphate yielded 31 more bushels per acre and 110 more pounds of protein for every 100 bushels of oats from the improved land than were obtained from oats grown on untreated soil.

On the plot the Clintons produced 14.5 per cent of protein, or 4.6 pounds per bushel, compared with 11 per cent of protein, or 3.5 pounds per bushel, for the Clintons grown on untreated land on the same field.

Railroad workers achieved the 8-hour day in 1916, by an act of Congress making it effective on railroads engaged in interstate commerce.

The state of Missouri has more than 8,000 miles of railroad, 1927 miles of navigable waters and boasts 14,664 miles of improved state highways.

The Federal Trade commission will start a smear campaign using press and radio publicity, presumably to depict the price-cost-profits picture, but in reality blaming U. S. big business for high prices.—Pathfinder.

Woman's World

Whether You're Tall or Short There's a Right Way to Dress

By Ertta Haley

ARE you tall, always wishing to look shorter and as fragile as your less than average height sisters? Or, are you short, continually wanting to attain some of the elegance and chic of your taller sisters?

The first thing to do is to stop worrying about your height or lack of it. I don't say forget it, but do stop worrying about it. No matter which your problem, you can dress accordingly, and minimize the effects of being too much the shorty or of being too tall. Dressed properly, you will look right, and people won't think about your height.

The short girl must scale her clothes to fit her figure. She chooses hats that frame her face, rather than overpower it. She chooses the shorter jacket in preference to the long one so that her figure below the waist looks longer. She wears the minimum of accessories so they don't weigh her down and give the appearance of weighing more than she.

The tall girl can wear the heavier fabrics extremely well, and can use many and rather ornamental accessories. These are the things that give her chic as well as a flair for the dramatic.

She can don a long jacket and still have enough height to look well rather than ridiculous. Her clothes can be full if she is slender, and drapes are particularly good for giving her grace.

Tall girls can look dramatic with furs around the neck or down the

Trend-Setting Dress

Here's the dress that was voted top trend-setting design at a recent fashion group showing. The fabric is important news, too, for it is lovely smooth gabardine of 80 per cent Avisco spun rayon and 20 per cent wool. A skillful blending of the yarn makes the dress receptive to tailoring and it can even be washed.

Keep clothes proportional...

front of their coat. All sorts of detailed trimmings and accessories play down the tallness. And, by the same token, anything dramatic or unusual in jewelry, accessories and lines will detract from height.

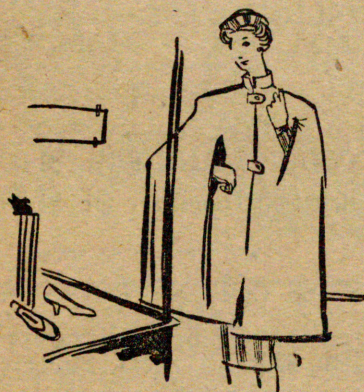

Here's How to Select Coats Properly

Tall figures wear the new voluminous coats with their full backs and full sleeves exceedingly well. They also may wear the heavier, bulkier furs, the long haired furs and the fur jackets.

If you are short, select a coat of only modified fullness, with little fullness in the skirt, sleeves and back. The fitted coats or straight ones, or princess styles are made for the small girls.

Short haired furs that are sleek and flat are a good choice for the petite person. In many cases, no fur or very slight fur trim is best.

Tall people may wear the three quarter length capes either in fabric or fur extremely well. Short people never should choose the wrist length or longer capes, but should stick to the above the waist cape or capelet.

Do's and Don'ts For Choosing Suits

Short women should choose suits of monotone fabric that are soft in line, small in pattern and precisely proportioned to the small figure.

Select a fairly short jacket or bolero type, an almost straight skirt, tiny revers and a rather lightweight fabric. You'll find that matching accessories add height. Never wear too much of a contrast in color as this will break up the already small figure. If you have a color break, let it come as high to the face as possible.

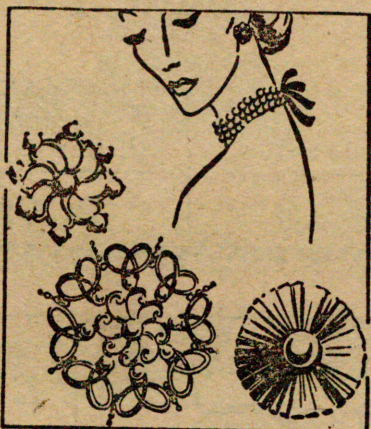

Tall girls wear dramatic plaids of many colors well as this breaks down the figure. They may choose heavier materials, provided they aren't too heavy, and well contrasted accessories.

Contrasting colors are exceedingly good in the suit itself, such as blue skirt and red jacket.

Large hats are good, but they should not be too towering. Don't wear too low heels as these only do the opposite by contrast.

If you are short, skip the large

Be Smart!

Pearls are climbing to new fashion importance, often in sets that harmonize in necklaces, earrings and elaborately designed pins or clips. One of the pretty ideas is to wear a high choker on a velvet ribbon in black or any color to suit your costume.

Drilled-in Fertilizer Helps Barley Crop Get Quick Start in Spring

CHICAGO—The fertilizers farmers use on barley and other small grains will give larger increases in yield per pound of fertilizer if the plant food is put on with a fertilizer attachment on the grain drill, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee in a statement issued here.

With the drill the fertilizer is applied more or less in bands, close to the seed. The plants get a quick start in the spring and are better able to compete with the soil for the plant food.

Another way to get bigger increases from the same amount of fertilizer is to use it on soil with good structure—where legumes and grasses have been used regularly in the rotation. Plant food in the soil will be used only as the roots reach out to it. And good tilth is needed for strong roots.

Large amounts of fertilizer high in nitrogen drilled with the barley and small grains may injure the seed. The amounts that can be drilled with the seeds without injury vary from soil to soil, says the statement. The committee advises that farmers check with their state agronomists and county agents for recommendations on the kind, amount and method of application of fertilizer.

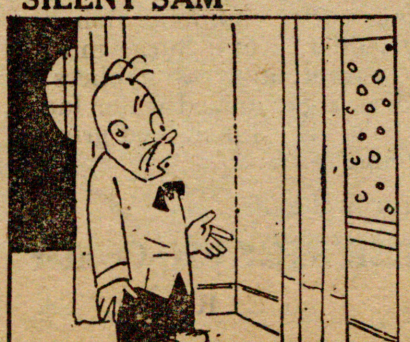

Patent has been issued on an improved method for releasing meat of coconuts from their shells and processing it preparatory to shredding. The time required for heating and the amount of heat required is considerably reduced.

Circus 'Big Top' Brings Surprise, Not Elephants

CINCINNATI, Ohio—The crowds that have been gathering near a big circus tent just outside the city recently have been fooled every time. Expecting to see a trained elephant or a tights-clad acrobat make an exit after appearing in the center ring, they were disappointed to see only an occasional denim-clad workman coming from the tent.

Curiosity finally got the better of one of the spectators and he was compelled to ask, "What's going on in that circus tent anyhow? Don't look like a circus."

With a laugh, a workman who had just stepped outside the big top explained that the circus tent wasn't a circus tent after all—it was just a nice comfortable place to work.

When frequent bad weather interfered with construction work on the site of a new 1,000-family building project, one of the contractors thought of a way to keep construction going rain or shine. He would just provide an inside job for his bricklayers and other workmen when it rained. He bought a sturdy, cotton canvas circus tent and had the crew pitch the tent over the

Now when bad weather comes, builders move in from an outside job and keep right on working. As soon as the walls are eight feet high, the canvas tent moves to a new location. The "big top" has proved such a successful idea that the company plans to buy more canvas to use in its building projects.

FOREST FIRE LOSSES SHOWN BY COMPARING THE GREAT PYRAMID

The Great Pyramid of Egypt, one of the "Seven wonders" of the old world, covers 13 acres of ground and soars 482 feet into the air.

Let's suppose we had five such pyramids here in the United States, all made of wood. They would cover 65 acres, or an area twice that covered by the Pentagon building—world's largest office building.

Now let's go one step farther and say we set them afire and burn them to ashes. It would be criminal, of course, and would rank as a major catastrophe.

But that is one of the wonders of the modern age. Each year careless Americans set fire to our forests and burn the amount of wood needed to build structures equal to the five pyramids. And we accomplish this feat, if you want to call it such, with nearly 200,000 forest fires that burn some 21,000,000 acres causing a damage of $33,000,000.

Protection of our forests from fire is one of the "musts" of our country. Without fire protection the forests cannot reach their maximum growth. And there is no doubt today that we need all the forest growth we can produce.

Wood is one of our most widely used raw materials today. From it comes rayon for clothes; paper for magazines, books, newspapers; paper for plates, cups, and the like; chemicals for paint varnishes, and all the other myriad of uses.

When you are in the woods be mindful that man causes nine out of ten forest fires so be careful with fire in the woods and help to "Keep America green."

Along with its large production of fruits, vegetables, and agriculture products, including bananas, sugar cane, tobacco and pecans, Florida has large fishing interests, phosphate deposits, and is rated as the second largest cattle producing state in the U. S.

HOW SCIENCE WON AGAINST EAR TROUBLE

Otosclerosis is a disease of the ear which was once considered a hopeless state of deafness. The word stems from two Greek words meaning "ear" and "hardening" and it describes the formation of a spongy bone in the internal or middle ear which prevents the vibratory devices there from carrying out the normal function of transmitting sound, according to a "health talk" issued by the educational committee of the Illinois State Medical society.

About 15,000,000 persons in the United States suffer from some degree of otosclerosis. There is no pain, no middle ear infection, and few symptoms beyond a ringing or buzzing in the ears. There is gradual and progressive loss of hearing.

The small bones in the middle ear are called the hammer, the anvil, and the stirrup. Sound waves striking the eardrum vibrate these small bones in sequence. The inner end of the stirrup fits into a window in the capsule which separates the middle ear from the inner ear. Through this window the vibrations of the stirrup are normally transmitted to the fluid of the inner ear.

In otosclerosis, however, the spongy growth slowly close the tiny window around the stirrup until it is held so firmly that no vibrations reach the inner ear. The auditory or hearing nerve inside may be normal, but because of the blocked passage sound cannot be transmitted to the hearing area of the brain.

First Attempt

In 1876 a German surgeon named Kessel made the first attempt to loosen the stirrup from the closed window. Hearing was restored, but deafness returned when the bony window closed again. Through the years, various surgeons have tried to overcome this defect, but research is difficult because otosclerosis develops only in human beings who must volunteer as subjects.

In 1938, a New York surgeon, Dr. Julius Lempert, published the story of twelve years' research, the development of an operative technique which created a new window in the ear. Later work overcame many obstacles in his operation, such as inflammation of the canal of the ear, damage to the nerve, and recurrent closing of the window. In 1945 Dr. Lempert announced that the problem of the closing window was solved. He said that to keep a window open for hearing, the normal one had to be first closed. Then he placed a small piece of cartilage taken from the outer ear in a new surgical opening, and drew over it a thin piece of membrane and a part of the eardrum. The piece of cartilage served as a new stirrup, transmitted sound vibrations to the inner ear, and prevented bone formation and possible damage to the auditory or hearing nerve.

Not All Deafness

This technique called fenestration or the "window" operation, often restores persons labeled formerly "hopelessly deaf" to complete hearing. It does not apply to all cases of deafness. However, competent doctors advise the operation, 98 per cent of the persons operated on are restored to normal hearing.

Few surgeons perform this delicate operation, which needs special training. It is suitable only for "properly selected cases" following careful preoperative examination to determine particularly that the hearing nerve itself is intact.

North Carolina is one of America's progressive states. It produces a large variety of agricultural products, including peaches, pears and grapes. It produces a large amount of minerals, among which are gold, silver and copper.

Texas leads all states in many items. It has a much larger production of petroleum than any other state in the Union, its lands are productive of many kinds of farm crops, and in all parts of it are manufacturing institutions of various kinds.

Cancer, the second greatest cause of death in the United States, is caused by body cells that seem "to run wild" and interfere with the activities of the body, reports the World Book Encyclopedia.

MISINFORMATION CLAIMED ON SCHOOL REORGANIZATION

May Birthday Drivers Get Extension Cards

SPRINGFIELD—Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett reported last week that his office has started mailing extension notices to Illinois drivers whose identification cards show a May first expiration date.

Secretary Barrett explained that after a majority of the 1945-48 driver licenses had been issued, the 65th general assembly passed an amendment setting the expiration date for licenses of that series as the holder's first birthday after May 1, 1948.

The extension cards are designed to provide registered drivers with current evidence that they are legally registered to drive during the interim from 1, 1948 (the expiration date shown on their cards), until their first birthday after May 1, 1948.

Licenses issued after the law became effective were stamped with the correct date and their holders will not receive the extension notices, Mr. Barrett explained.

Motorists also were advised by Secretary Barrett that applications for renewals of their driver's license should not be submitted until 30 days prior to their first birthday after May 1, 1948. In the case of motorists whose birthdays occur in the month of January, February, March, or April, applications are not due until 1949.

Winsome

This winsome lass "models" a fabric napkin that will never be laundered. The fabric, nonwoven, is made by a completely new process, recently patented. Spinning and weaving are entirely eliminated, according to National Patent Council. Several continuous webs of fibers come off a set of cards in a wide strip and are laid over each other, forming a "lap." The "lap" goes into a binding machine which deposits an adhesive on the face of the material to bind the individual fibers into place. When soiled, the napkin is thrown away.

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN. — A definite lack of public information on the purposes and possibilities of school district reorganization was cited today by the bureau of research and service of the University of Illinois college of education.

Many proposed reorganizations are being voted upon and rejected, the bureau said, before the people have opportunity to learn what adequate-sized efficient, community unit school districts will mean to them and their children in terms of better education at reasonable cost. It is indicated that elections held before voters are fully informed does not "truly report the will of the people but too often reflects rumors."

Some of the most frequently heard rumors concerning school reorganization are that the schools are to be taken from the local districts; that the local school will assume a high bonded indebtedness by organizing; that pupils will spend "half a day on the bus;" that many good teachers will be fired; that the local building will be left idle or torn down; that the reorganized schools will result in greatly increased cost; that young pupils will be taken great distances from home; that the adjoining district will control the board.

The bureau suggests that voters examine rumors critically and seek accurate information on such questions as: What has been the result of reorganization in other states? How efficient can pupil transportation be? What courses can be offered in a high school of 300 to 400 which cannot be offered in small high schools? How can larger districts operate at lower cost per pupil?

by EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

YOU ALL have heard the old saw: "A stitch in time saves nine." There are a good many "stitches" to be saved on the farm, and in the case of frozen silage you can add another old saying: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

There are several ways to prevent frozen silage. Agronomists say that a good method is to keep the silage surface level at all times—but slope the outer foot downward to the wall.

Sharp or square corners of silage cool faster than rounded ones. Where freezing air, silo and silage meet there will be some frost in the silage—but if the silage is sloped up and back from the ring of contact with the silo wall, the thickness of inward freezing is less than if the corner were square.

It is always less work to keep silage away from the wall than to sort the spoiled from the good silage later—when that left sticking to the wall drops into the good silage. If the frosted layer is allowed to spoil (because it is not mixed with other silage for thawing out) much valuable feed is lost.

To keep silage coming freely from the wall, allow it to freeze as little as possible by keeping the surface smooth and level, except that outer foot which slopes down to the wall. When the day's feed has been thrown off and the new ditch dug around the inside of the silo wall, plunge a heavy fork between the silage and the wall and pull the handle inward.

If wet solid silages freeze firmly to the wall, use a spud or pinch bar straight down, never an axe or pick which easily can damage the silo.

Lullaby Cloud

Watch my little curly head, I push a button

And the light is released from its cage,
See it slip quickly into oblivion;
Now, darkness creeps in, silent with age.

Listen, the wind is whispering to the trees,

They nod in agreement. Katyids are in their hair,

Running through Locust curls and arguing,

"Katydid, she didn't!" They will idle there.

The wind has been trinkling Locust perfume again.

Such an aromatic breath, my baby,
Close wee eyes,

Sleep will descend on a pink cloud for us

While the heaven watches with stars against her skies.

How to Keep 'Em
Down On the Farm

The other day Pete Swanson's nephew, Bud, allowed as how he was fed up with farm and country life... and was going to the city where there was a lot more opportunity and excitement.

Some folks might have tried to stop him. But not Pete. He even advanced Bud carfare for the trip... figured that when he'd had a good look around, he'd come back where he belonged.

And what happened? After seven days of big-town bustle and excitement, Bud was back behind the wheel of a tractor, with color in his cheeks again. And he'd traded the night life of the city for a quiet glass of beer with Dad.

From where I sit, that's how it goes. Try to prevent some one from getting what he thinks he wants—and he'll go on wanting it. But give him his head, and he'll settle for the sensible thing—whether it's country life, or a temperate glass of beer!

Diesel Output Up 60 Percent

The ratio of steam locomotive production to that of diesel-electric types is shrinking sharply. One manufacturer alone reports that diesel-electrics accounted for 85 per cent of its production in 1947, a rise of 60 per cent over 1946.

VENTILATION TERMED VITAL IN SUCCESSFUL FARMING

Ventilation is one of the most important factors in successful farming, agricultural specialists emphasize. They point out that dairy barn ventilating fans, operated by motors of a quarter or a half horsepower, should have a capacity of 60 cubic ft. per minute per animal, and that there should be a fresh air intake for every four cows. Recommended for poultry houses are fans, powered by 1-40 to 1-20 horsepower motors, with a capacity of 75 to 100 cubic feet per 100 birds housed.

'Electric Chair' for Flies

An automatic electric executioner of flies, gnats, and other small insects, eliminating the need for sprays, has been devised for use, especially in dairies, bakeries, and other food outlets.

Airplane warm-food ovens, with a capacity of six food trays, are electrically operated to maintain temperature of the food at 140 to 200 degrees.

A metal container large enough to hold two salt shakers and utilizing a tiny electric lamp has been developed to keep salt dry during humid weather.

Here's Why a
JOHN DEERE HAMMER MILL
is a Better Buy for You!

For better, more economical feed-making, you want a mill that will handle all kinds of feed, for a long time and at a low cost. You get this kind of performance with a John Deere Hammer Mill.

The semi-rigid, step-cut hammers, with sharp cutting edges, cut as they grind—reduce materials faster without slivering. This construction also reduces the resistance of the hammers—resulting in lower power requirements. The small diameter rotor also assures light running. The tough, high-carbon steel rotor shaft is amply strong for your most difficult grinding jobs.

The John Deere's a mill that will soon pay for itself on your farm. Built in 6-, 10-, and 14-inch sizes. See us soon for complete information.

The state of Washington is a fast-growing state; it attracts population because of its natural resources, its climate; its timber production is outstanding; its production of apples and wheat especially large. In it the cities of Seattle and Tacoma are important Pacific trading posts.

"WHERE'S MY BABY?"

This flash fire was one of Northern Illinois' worst. Ten families—39 people—had lived where now there were only flame and death.

One of these people was little Rose Brinkman.

Her mother was frantic.

She asked the neighbors.

She asked the policemen.

She asked the firemen.

"Where's my baby?"

"Have you seen the little one—Rose—the baby?"

Then she saw the familiar red and white insignia.

It was a Red Cross worker.

"Have you seen my baby?" She was almost pleading now.

"Your baby's right over there, ma'am," came the reply.

"One of our workers is tending to her in the Red Cross car."

And there, indeed, was little Rose.

The Red Cross had dressed her warmly.

And she was snuggled in a blanket drinking warm milk.

She even smiled a little when her tearful mother reached for her.

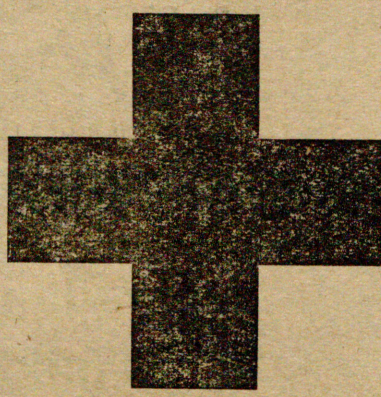

Last year the Red Cross brought food, clothes, first aid, and comfort to the victims of fires and disasters throughout Northern Illinois

Last year, too, Red Cross chapters in this area helped thousands of veterans with the problems of readjustment, brought cheer to thousands more who are hospitalized in this region. They helped the families of thousands of men still in the service to solve personal problems... They certificated over 5000 women from Red Cross nursing classes... And they taught more than 32,000 people the fundamentals of swimming and water safety.

For obvious reasons, the names used in this typical case history are fictitious

So that your Red Cross will continue to be Always there when needed most
